

The EthCo Interdisciplinary Tasks

Your future role: An Ethical Scotland in the Global Economy

8. Feeding the World

Aimed at a Curriculum for Excellence at all levels

Developing Global Citizens through An Interdisciplinary Approach

EthCo sets out to provide a task-based framework to allow young people to explore the United Nation's Millennium Development Goals, and how they impact on world poverty and growth. The concept of ethics in business is also investigated, and pupils will contextualise that within Scotland's place in the world economy. Through EthCo, pupils will be encouraged to see how the choices made by individuals within businesses, organisations and communities impact on economic life in their own and other countries. Using action-based enterprise activities they will take the first steps towards 'making a difference', through positive challenges to existing practices, illustrating that consumer and citizen power can impact on poverty reduction and economic success. Pupils will learn about, and raise awareness of, the 'Millennium Development Goals' to their families, their communities and local businesses. Young people are the employers, employees, and community activists of the future and EthCo hopes to embed a global perspective for the longer term. They, along with their teachers and their communities, hold the key to implementing actions which impact on the Millennium Development Goals. It is hoped that their energy and hope for the future may be harnessed, and their actions and attitudes affected, by learning global Citizenship through these tasks.

EthCo will provide approaches and materials within a 'Curriculum for Excellence' to link together Development Education, Enterprise Education, Financial awareness, understanding of business, citizenship education, education for sustainable development, and other cross-cutting themes. These are brought together in the EthCo interdisciplinary Tasks and, since the tasks contribute to many of the Learning Outcomes in the Curricular Areas of CfE, can be built in as part of the on-going curriculum to help develop Global Citizens.

Pupil Led—Teacher Prompted: EthCo is not a topic, but rather an open ended process which teachers are free to adapt to their own curricular needs. It is envisaged that EthCo will run as an enterprise activity based on a real task, and is set up to provide appropriate learning outcomes within ACfE. As such EthCo encourages interdisciplinary learning between, and across the Curricular areas. It is focused on international education, and is designed to fit in with a range of existing initiatives available to schools, such as Eco Schools, financial education, social enterprise and others. Each task facilitates learning via a thinking/discussing phase, a research phase and a doing phase, and finishes on a demonstration of learning outcome. Timescale for the task is at the discretion of staff.

The EthCo tasks are not set to any particular Curriculum for Excellence level and Teachers may adapt them to suit their purposes. In all cases this is best done by matching the learning to the curricular level being taught, however it is perfectly acceptable to adapt the task content, or reduce or extend the scope of the task, as long as the EthCo learning outcomes for the task and your aims are met.

The tasks are numbered only to ease identification and not to indicate an order of work.

Hints, tips and resources are detailed for each task in tandem with suggested links to existing initiatives.

Our website containing additional information and resources is available at www.EthCo.org.uk

The Queensland Rich Task project is acknowledged for the inspiration for this task format.

EthCo Interdisciplinary Tasks

Feeding the World

Aimed at a Curriculum for Excellence at all levels

The Millennium Development Goals and feeding the people of the World

Pupils will learn about the diversity of food around the World, differing diets and the effects of these diets on people, they will also learn about the need to develop self sustaining food supplies, the need for aid, the alternatives to direct Aid, and the impact of corruption and theft.

Pupils will explore the historical impact of famine and how it happens, sources of food, food shortages, food surpluses, food transportation and finance.

The Millennium Development Goals, and how the countries of the World are attempting to meet them form a major part of this task.

What are the MDGs and which ones have the most impact on diet, food and world health? How would you expect these goals to be achieved? What should be done?
Research and present your findings and justify your conclusions.

What is in our own diet? What makes a healthy diet? What is food anyway? Have we always eaten the same foods and in the same amounts? What changes have taken place in our own food supply over the years?
Research and discuss.
What about food waste? What can be the effect of 'sell by dates' in shops? What of the ethics here?

Consider the diversity of food across the World, types, amounts, quality. What does an individual really need to comfortably live? What are the effects of deprivation? Of excess? Research and debate.

Famine – what is it and where does it happen? Find some historical examples of famine and the effects. Why does it happen? Has it ever happened in Scotland? What are the effects of famine? What needs to be done about it? What have you seen done? Does it work? What are the problems? Can there be a better way?
Research and discuss and justify your conclusions.

Where does the population of the World get its food from? Is it all home grown or brought in from other countries? Is any country in the World really self-sufficient today? Consider the international companies involved and the profits made. Consider the food surpluses and waste involved.
Research and debate, considering the ethics.

Corruption, profiteering, theft, bribery, are all issues mentioned when food aid is involved. Can anything be done to prevent this? Discuss and provide your conclusions.

How important is the concept of 'supply and Demand' for food? Consider the variety of structures from village or town markets to the modern hypermarket food chains. Do the differing methods lead to better or worse food quality and supply, and what about food waste?
Investigate discuss and report.

Excess : some countries have populations that are considered obese. What is obesity? How is it measured? What is BMI and what is its role in the health of an individual? What has been the cause of this growth in obesity and what are the possible long-term effects? Is it possible to stop this trend? Equally there are concerns about eating too little in an attempt to be thin (especially among some women). Is this necessary? Where has the influence come from? What can be done to stop this trend? Are these trends seen more in some parts of the World than in others? Investigate, discuss and report.

The presentation for this task is on the diversity of foods across the World, the variety in the diet, and the effects of diet on health, creating a balance in food supply around the World, and the implications of aid, for both provider and receiver, as well as what the Millennium Development Goals set out to achieve. Pupils should consider themselves as presenting on a television programme entitled 'Feeding the World' and may be 'live' or use video presentation..

Planning and developing the task:

Staff are free to develop this task in a manner which suits the individual needs of the school, as long as the EthCo learning outcomes are achieved.

The planning can include any CfE curricular area which has a natural link with the task, and can be designed to suit the strengths of the school and the CfE level of the pupils involved

The Ethco Learning outcomes for this task are :

- To learn about the 'Millennium Development Goals', their development and implications for the world community.
- To learn about ethics and develop the ability to recognise and demonstrate ethical behaviour.
- To learn about Scotland's contribution to the Millennium Development Goals.
- To develop skills in learning, research, presentation, discussion and argument.

Resources, hints and tips:

Open web searches can be very fruitful sources of information but the results need constant critical support and supervision from the teacher to ensure suitability. Some notes on the use of 'Philosophical Inquiry' are provided.

There are clear links to: 'Enterprising approaches to learning and teaching', 'Entrepreneurial learning', 'Vocational and work based learning', and 'Careers education'.

Some issues which might be explored are: aid organisations, financial institutions, micro finance, company investment, the greedy company, unethical dealing, bid rigging, environmental issues, sustainable issues, profits and profit distribution, transport, human rights, political awareness, selling, the entrepreneur, education, cheating, corruption, famine, fashion, obesity, anorexia, food waste, food production, etc., etc., etc.

Class organisation: To provide the teams for the demonstration, it is necessary to work in groups. Best results often come when the principles of cooperative or collaborative learning are employed. Use of 'Philosophical Inquiry' or similar can assist the discussion of the issues involved. Adequate encouragement, time, resources and teacher support should be given to facilitate a high level of research, discovery and sharing by the pupils. The sections in the full bold outline should be taught by the teacher to ensure coverage and understanding.

The demonstration of learning should take the form suggested and to an appropriate audience. The audience can be drawn from the community and represent a range of interests, prizes may be awarded by the school as appropriate. The event may be videoed, then shown to and analysed by a larger audience.

Other variations of the presentation are possible depending on the aspirations of the school.

The assessment of performance of the task should be made by staff using the criteria below. The assessment of the individual should also include assessment of their contribution to the task and individual performance in class work, related to the appropriate CfE Learning Outcomes.

CfE Curricular Areas , Levels, and capacities.

Many of the CfE curricular areas : Expressive Arts, Health and Wellbeing, Languages, Mathematics, Religious and moral education, Science, Social Studies, and Technologies, etc., have CfE learning outcomes which can be contributed to by completing this task and are shown on the back page.

The full extent of this contribution, and indeed whether the outcome can be satisfied entirely, depends on the teacher's individual planning,

When planning a task the appropriate learning outcomes for the level being taught should be applied.

Clearly in completing this task, impact will be made on the CfE capacities of 'Successful Learners, Effective Contributors, Confident Individuals and Responsible Citizens'

Assessment of the task:

The demonstration of learning in the task is assessed as 'high quality', 'quality', 'acceptable' or 'fair' using the following descriptors.

In a group demonstration, all members are given the same task award. Individual performance should be assessed and reported in a formative manner using the appropriate CfE learning outcomes. The individual contribution to the task should also be commented upon.

A high quality demonstration of learning is evidenced by:

A clear statement of the distribution of food supplies worldwide, and the effect on the Millennium Development Goals

Clear demonstration of understanding of ethics and standards. Clear demonstration of how this should apply and be monitored.

Evidence of consideration and understanding in depth of the variety of diet and the effects of diet on the peoples of the world.

Showing good knowledge of the Millennium Development Goals, their impact on the developing countries and how Scotland can contribute.

High presentation skills with confident responses to questioning showing excellent background knowledge.

An acceptable demonstration of learning is evidenced by:

A clear statement of the distribution of food supplies worldwide.

Clear demonstration of understanding of ethics and standards. Clear demonstration of how this should apply.

Evidence of consideration and understanding of the variety of diet and the effects of diet on the peoples of the world.

Showing knowledge of the Millennium Development Goals and their impact on the developing countries.

Good presentation skills with responses to questioning showing good background knowledge.
